Every time we're asked about our new house, we tell people how fantastic our builder, Devrite, was to work with, what an absolutely amazing process it has been, and how we will miss seeing Ron, Jay, Mark and Lyndon and the others at Devrite, now that our house is finished. We've been surprised by people's responses to us who have used other builders – usually along these lines: "You don't hear that very often", or "That's really unusual" or "That's not what we went through". We now realise how very lucky we were to have used Devrite – and how exceptional their service truly was.

Above all, we now also realise how very fortunate we are that Ron and Jay were not just our "builder", but are wonderful people who we were lucky to meet, and who we hope we can still keep in touch with.
